LACROSSE, which is of Canadian origin, was introduced into Victoria in 1874 by Mr. L. L. Mount, a Canadian. One afternoon in Albert Park Mr. Mount, with a "crosse," was throwing the ball when he attracted the attention of a young man named George Beech. Mr. Mount invited the young Australian to try to throw the ball with the "crosse." The invitation was accepted and Mr. Beech, who is now a life member of the V.L.A., was so successful that he became interested and induced some of his friends to form a team. Later regular matches were played and thus lacrosse, described as the "sport for thoroughbreds," became established in Australia as a field game.

Sixty-two years later a similar occurrence has taken place in Albert Park in the introduction of women's lacrosse. Mr. Beech, who is still keenly interested in the game, attended the first women's practice where he himself had had his first lacrosse lesson. To the newly formed women's association the V.L.A. extends congratulations and best wishes for a successful future.

Lacrosse in Victoria has made big strides since those pioneering days of the 70's and 80's, and to-day over 1000 players take part in matches in Melbourne each Saturday. Victoria is the strongest lacrosse State in the Commonwealth, and is at present the holder of the Garland-Mellurg Cup, won at the last triennial carnival. The Australian carnival is being held in Adelaide during August, when Victoria will have to defend the Australian championship.
